This three-day seminar explores the important relationship between mentor teachers and the novices they support. Based on the three-phase Pathways Learning Model, these sessions offer practical tools, specific templates, and technical tips for support providers to help beginning teachers in increasing the effectiveness of their practice.

Learning Areas include:

- ☐ Defining and developing the expert/protégé relationship
- ☐ Developing verbal and non-verbal skills across a continuum of interaction from consulting to coaching to support teachers learning
- ☐ Providing feedback to improve instructional decision making
- ☐ Applying tools and templates for planning, reflecting and problem solving in both one-to-one and small group interactions
